

LANDON IN KANSAS TALK DEPLORES RACE HATRED

TOLERANCE U. S. TRADITION, GOVERNOR DECLARES

By ARTHUR HACHTEN
Universal Service Correspondent

Wichita, Kan., Sept. 8.—Governor Landon received thunderous applause here yesterday when he told the Kansas department of the American Legion he hoped the split in the ranks of labor will be "speedily healed," and called on legionnaires to lead in smashing intolerance and emphasized the duty of war veterans to help preserve peace.

Legionnaires gave Governor Landon a rousing reception as he sailed into racial intolerance and called for support of "one flag, one united nation."

Governor Landon took notice of the split in the ranks of labor and the suppression of forces led by John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers, when he declared:

"I for one, am sorry to see the recent split in the ranks of labor and hope that it will be speedily healed. The great gains made by labor through its organizations are in danger so long as this division exists."

"It is to be hoped that organized labor may combine in its part in the struggle for higher living standards and be as truly effective, it must remain united."

"Tolerance Landon's address carried a threefold appeal:

"The duty of tolerance. To make the welfare and safety of the nation our personal concern."

"Our duty in preserving peace."

There was a ripple of laughter when, in discussing the need for suppression of intolerance, the Governor remarked:

"In part, I suspect, it is due to the fact that we call 'pure Americanism' which may have a share."

"GOOD AMERICANS"

Although the speaker did not mention the word, it was evident that the original split was based on the great war fought as to like and respect each other, as good soldiers and good Americans."

Again, when he said:

"We of the land must stand today in peace, as we stand yesterday in war, for one flag, one united nation."

When he expressed a hope that the split in the ranks of labor will be "speedily healed," many voices in response for progress and peace.

Let me remind you of them.

Tolerance Need

First the duty of tolerance. It ought not to be necessary to stress tolerance in America. We have a great tradition of tolerance growing out of the fundamentals of our faith. Our forbears came of different stock, different religions.

Men of every nation, every clime, united in building this country. Protestants, Catholics, Jews worked here side by side, good neighbors, good citizens.

No other nation has such a background.

But of late there has been disturbing evidence of attempts to stir up racial antagonism. This is due in part, I suppose, to the influence of the persecuting spirit that has broken out in certain regions in Europe. In part it may be due to the depression that has strained our nerves. In part, I suspect, it is due to what we call "pure Americanism," of which we all have a share.

This fomenting of racial feeling is not serious as yet. It would be tragic if it should become serious. The American Legion is a cross-section of men of all stocks and creeds. But however different our original stock may have been, the great war taught us to like and respect each other, as good soldiers and good Americans.

United Nation

We are, therefore, in a position and we have the responsibility to oppose every move to capitalize intolerance, to break up the country into hostile groups. Also, we must insist upon the preservation and protection of American freedom of expression. So long as we have freedom of expression and a free exchange of ideas, many of our most serious problems will solve themselves. We of the Legion must stand today in peace, as we stood yesterday in war, for one flag, one united nation, one citizenship. Secondly, I want to emphasize the duty of citizenship—citizenship in its broadest sense. Traveling about Kansas, I get a lot of satisfaction when I find men of the Legion taking influential positions in the farming communities, in the trade unions, in the chambers of commerce, in other organizations that help our common life. We always take pride in the fact that one of our comrades is leading a career drive or a child welfare movement.

Text of Landon Speech 'We of Legion Stand Today for One Flag'

Wichita, Kansas, Sept. 8 (US)—Governor Landon's address at the State Convention of the American Legion yesterday follows in full:

Our American Legion Convention today is one of fellowship. We here observe that section of the preamble to the Legion Constitution that calls upon us to "preserve the memories and incidents of our association in the Great War."

We must not forget the incidents and memories of training camps or battlefields that bind us together. They are precious to us all. In them we regain the spirit of that supreme adventure in our country's service. That adventure did not end on November 11, 1918. Our fellowship in past memories is fine. But it involves a fellowship in present and future duties. We shall not get the value of our meetings if we let these duties pass out of mind.

Let me remind you of them.

Regrets Labor Split

We went into the army to save America. The men who make up the American Legion made the safety and welfare of the nation a matter for each man's own personal concern. And now that we are back in civilian life we must continue to make the welfare and safety of the nation our personal concern.

But this goal cannot be attained by individual effort alone. Achievement in this instance must come from unity, just as success in the World War came by united action.

I, for one, am sorry to see the recent split in the ranks of labor and hope that it will be speedily healed. The great gains made by labor through its organizations are in danger so long as this division exists. Here again, unity is requisite for progress and achievement.

The prodding by labor unions in the past has frequently awakened archaic management to the need for improving conditions. All labor will be in a stronger position if it eliminates the cut-throat competition of cheap labor in the sweatshops. Low living standards for some of our people in this country are a continuing threat to the standards of workers in other sections more fortunately situated. It is to be hoped that organized labor may continue in its part in the struggle for higher living standards. And to be really effective, it must remain united.

In all this the Legion should be prompt to take leadership. Yet, a heavy responsibility rests upon the men who were the nation's first line, two decades ago. They will meet that responsibility in the future as they met it in the past.

As Americans we shall go forward. We shall make America a better place by year—year—an example and an inspiration to the world.

Primaries in 5 States Watched

By the Associated Press

Voters of five widely separated states balloted in primaries today for the national interest centered on the contest in Georgia tomorrow, when Governor Eugene Talley, better known as the New Deal, is expected to replace Richard B. Russell, Jr., in the Senate of the Old South.

States holding primaries today included Washington, Arizona, Colorado and Vermont. In South Carolina, a second runoff was being held between two Greenback Democrats to choose a successor to the late John McMillan for the cotton mill district in Congress.

Governor Talley, wearing his "pious brother" and red sash, was expected to win. He is a former governor and a states' rights fighter, with being "a rather sharp" for the New Deal.

In Wisconsin, where the Greenback and nine Democrats are contesting the seat of the late Senator Joseph P. Kamp, the Greenback nomination for Governor Alfred M. Landon as President of the public school.

"He never felt more certain of anything in my life than the defeat of President Roosevelt. By mid-October people will wonder why they ever had any doubt about it."

"Roosevelt will be defeated by two things—high taxes and the increased cost of living. Every worker is now being taxed more heavily than ever before."

New York Girl Amnesia Victim

East View, N. Y., Sept. 8 (AP)—A beautiful suburban girl thought she had been a victim of amnesia in Manhattan on New York street today when she awoke in a hospital in effort to identify her.

Garfield in riding back she was found lying just off the Bronx River and was taken to Gracie's Hospital. Her memory returned after a short stay and she revealed she had come to New York from Pennsylvania about two months ago.

Washington, Sept. 8 (CBS)—President Roosevelt, who has been on the road almost continuously since early June, prepared to leave Washington again tonight, heading South for a "green pastures" rally Thursday at Charlotte, N. C., in which royal Democrats from six Southern states are expected to participate.

The special train will arrive in Knoxville, Tenn., about 11 o'clock, P. M., tomorrow morning, where Senator Tennessee New Deal advocates have planned a warm welcome for him.

From Knoxville after the reception, the executive planned to motor 110 miles through the Great Smoky Park to Asheville, N. C., spending Wednesday night at the North Carolina health resort.

Waste House attacks insisted the President's speech at Charlotte would be "non-political," although such had come up from the South that his position supporters were making for a strong campaign against it.

The President's first accused speech in furtherance of his reelection campaign was to come at Syracuse on Sept. 29, when he will appear before the New York State Democratic convention.

ATTEND FETE

After returning to Washington Friday of this week and making an address at the World Peace Conference that same day, the President plans to remain at the White House until Sept. 17. He will then leave for Cambridge, Mass., to participate in the 25th anniversary celebration of his alma mater, Harvard, going from there to his family home at Hyde Park for a 10-day stay.

The official opening of his administration will be a solemn one. The Republican opposition contends he has been actually doing a lot of hard, constructive work for months.

'DOUBTFUL VOTER' IS VITAL FACTOR IN CAMPAIGN

WINNING CANDIDATE MUST SELL SELF TO THEM

By ARCHIBALD M. CROSSLEY
President of Crossley, Inc., and Director of the National Barometer

New York, Sept. 8.—Who is the "pivotal" or doubtful voter, in the "pivotal" or doubtful states, and what type of argument on the part of the Roosevelt or Landon campaigners will cause him to make up his mind?

This is the central question of the Presidential campaign in the eyes of the men who are in the "pivotal" or doubtful states. It is the question that the winning candidate must answer. It is the question that the losing candidate must answer. It is the question that the voters must answer.

The National Barometer, a survey of the opinions of the voters in the "pivotal" or doubtful states, is the only survey of its kind. It is the only survey that is based on the opinions of the voters in the "pivotal" or doubtful states. Gullible's Travails

By Uncle Samuel Gullible

A FEW DAYS after I had arrived in the Land of Apalling Piffle United to Assinivity, I was walking in the palace garden one morning with the King, when a courier arrived with the news that the astronomical tailors, who had taken the measurements for my new suit had arrived with the garments.

Soon they entered with the clothes.

The King was delighted.

My heart sank as I looked at the raiment. But I put on the coat and pants.

The trousers had only one leg. The front of the coat was in the back, and outside pockets were inside.

"It fits you beautifully," said the King, clapping his hands. "My tailors are the best in the world. All their instruments for measuring suits of clothes are tested twice a day by the Royal Astronomical Society. Come, confess now, Uncle Samuel Gullible, did you ever see a suit of clothes like that before?"

"I never did," I replied truthfully.

"And this magnificent hat goes with it," said the Prime Minister, who had joined us.

He now placed the hat on my head. I hung my head and blushed.

"It looks like a foolscap," I said.

LABOR HEAD AIMS TO HEAL BET WITH REBEL UNIONS

Knoxville, Tenn., Sept. 8 (U.S.)—Deploing the breach in the ranks of organized labor as a "matter of deep regret," William Green, President of the American Federation of Labor, in a Labor Day radio address, expressed hope for final settlement of his dispute with John L. Lewis, head of ten "rebel" unions.

Green said the Labor group, comprising one-third of the 10,000,000 membership in the A. F. of L., ignored the majority view of the organization in defining a mandate to discontinue their strike for union recognition of the steel workers' strike.

"When issues are joined and controversial questions are settled by a majority vote of the representatives of labor who participate in conventions of the A. F. of L., it becomes the duty and obligation of all organizations of labor to respect and obey said decisions."

"This is a democratic procedure and majority rule. It is the traditional policy of the democratic organizations and participants of the A. F. of L. to settle questions within the controls of the organization by a majority vote and, when questions are thus settled, to yield and submit to majority rule. This is the issue involved in the present controversy."

FOE OF REBELS
Green declared the A. F. of L. was an organization of the workers of America and that it was the duty of the A. F. of L. to maintain its traditional policy of settling questions by a majority vote of the representatives of labor who participate in conventions of the A. F. of L.

"An organization of the workers of America, as represented by the A. F. of L., justifies the position that it favors the continuation of the traditional democratic political policy which it has adopted since its first formation in 1881."

"There are no individuals in America, which would be helped that labor will, within the next future, change its policy to one which is non-democratic political policy."

"It will always strive to this fundamental principle and will maintain the democratic political policy in the present political campaign."

Emphasizing that organized labor must be free of government interference in its internal affairs, Green said: "Labor, freedom and must be the right of the representative form of government."

FEWER EMPLOYED
Green also declared the A. F. of L. was an organization of the workers of America and that it was the duty of the A. F. of L. to maintain its traditional policy of settling questions by a majority vote of the representatives of labor who participate in conventions of the A. F. of L.

"Unemployment must be overcome through the development of the workers in general industry. For this reason those who manage and control private industry can relieve the burden of unemployment by creating new opportunities for those who are idle."

"Unemployment, however, is not a problem of the workers of America, but a problem of the management of industry."

"Because the A. F. of L. places a high value upon the benefits of the workers of America, it stands as an organization of the workers of America and as an organization of the workers of America."

"There can be no compromise between the A. F. of L. and the forces of Democracy. It will not and cannot accept the philosophy of Communism."

"Therefore, in the future, we will continue to fight for the workers of America and for the workers of America."

ENEMIES TO BEAT
"It is a matter of deep regret that labor through the nation, while celebrating the nation's birthday, is forced to consider the breach which has been opened through the formation of another organization which is not democratic in its policy and which is not democratic in its policy."

"These who have been brought to the attention of the workers of America are the enemies of the workers of America and the enemies of the workers of America."

800,000 NAZIS HAIL HITLER AT NURNBERG

Nurnberg, Germany, Sept. 8 (AP)—Adolf Hitler, like a Caesar of old, dramatically entered this city of 800,000 Nazis today.

With Nurnberg plastered with posters proclaiming Hitler "world enemy No. 1," the Reichsfuhrer arrived late in the afternoon for the fourth annual party convention.

Hours prior to his arrival, the three-mile road from the airport to the Reichsfuhrer's hotel "Hotel Hitler" had been lined with an expected throng.

Their enthusiasm knew no bounds when Dr. Goebbels appeared, seated slowly by Hitler, bare-headed and upright, again and again giving the Nazi salute.

He wore the traditional brown shirt of his movement.

Meanwhile, Otto Dietrich, Hitler's press chief, addressed newspaper correspondents and extolled the Nazi form of government as the most modern democracy in history.

"In place of the majority principle of strongly interested democracy, it sets the principle of responsibility of the Führer and the leadership of the state," he said.

At the same time, contrary to some predictions, Dr. Goebbels, Hitler's propaganda minister, arrived promptly for the convention for the first time since his arrest in 1933.

In well-informed party circles it was stated that the Führer's presence at the convention signifies that the party is now in a position to take the lead in the movement for the reconstruction of the German state.

This trend to confirm what had been an open secret for some time—that Hitler's return to Germany was as high with Hitler as he ever was—was confirmed.

Today he faced a shaggy crowd which had been dropped from his post and his speech.

"Not that I know anything about it," he said.

He admitted, however, he would not hold any further press conferences following this convention.

Entering Nurnberg, Dr. Goebbels was greeted by a crowd of people in the first to arrive and to leave the city.

Thousands of amateur cameramen clicked madly in the town of Nurnberg.

Jewish Congress

Group Will Aid Forgotten Man

This is the first of a series of articles on the Jewish Congress by noted Bostonians.

By BERNARD W. MARCUS OF NEWTON
Treasurer of the New England Zionist Region

In the past few years the position of the Jews throughout the world has been threatened by the many attacks on democratic forms of government and institutions.

The duty of the representative of the Jews is to protect Jewish interests and political rights in the face of these attacks.

To guarantee their equal status as men and citizens in their respective countries, the Jews of the world sent representatives to Geneva last month to the first World Jewish Congress.

Myopia Horse Show Attracts North Shore Fashionables

By BETTY ALDEN

"O F ALL THE COLORFUL, dashing sports in which horses are involved, a friend once told me, 'I think a horse show is the most interesting.' Everyone arrives at the show ground filled with enthusiasm at the prospect of a pleasant afternoon. . . . has an enjoyable half hour watching the graceful performance in the first few classes, and shouting and cheering friends . . . but as the afternoon wears on each spectator climbs to the top of a tall, bleached, beach wagon, or other point of vantage, and settles down to passive spectating . . . If a horse starts a hedge or fence cleanly a high and relieved murmur of 'Good' can be heard . . . The crowd of spectators grows a long drawn sorrowful sigh of 'Aw, too bad,' then from the ring side . . .

Whether by accident or design the Myopia Hunt Club, which certainly has had plenty of experience putting on horse shows, has discovered a new way to keep the spectators interested until the last class has been judged . . . Yesterday afternoon, when Myopia's fifth annual show had just reached the eighth stage and most everyone was seeking a shady spot out of the scorching sun and in the shade of the trees, the crowd of spectators was so large that the tall men standing on the back seat of a buggy drawn up to the ring side was Robert Montgomery, the movie star . . . Almost instantly the crowd of the show became of secondary importance and the gallery converged upon 'Bob,' who stood on his buggy seat with arms akimbo, absorbed in watching the hunt class, quite unaware of the stir he was causing . . . A large group soon gathered in a circle about the star 'in person, not a picture,' clicking their box cameras at him or waiting with ready pencil and paper for an autograph . . .

Fredrick Palmer and her sister Marie, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Palmer of Grosse Pointe, Michigan, and Manchester, were the most envied girls in Hamilton, for they stood in the buggy discussing the performance of the various horses with 'Bob' . . . A hitstep man followed the crowd and was soon relaying his Hollywood remarks in the photographic 'fraternity' as he photographed the star . . . Strangely enough, Mrs. Montgomery, who was sitting in front of 'Bob' in the buggy, and who must have seen her husband in movies and 'still' a thousands times, was quite interested in the tintype and brought several . . . She wore a beige dress with a luxurious tulle collar and a brown suede belt surmounted by a little tulle yellow feather and was sitting between Mrs. Joseph Woods and her brother, Randolph F. Tucker . . . Mr. and Mrs. Montgomery have been the house guests at Fairfield, Tucker estate in Wrentham since last Thursday, but plan to leave for New York tonight . . . The well-dressed man will be interested to note that 'Bob' was turned out in perfect attire for spectator sports in the country . . . dark green polo shirt, grey flannel knicker, a homespun jacket, a mixture of grey and white, sturdy suede shoes fastened by a single buckle on the side . . .

Marion McKean Plans Polo Game

ATOP THE TALLY-HO which was drawn up alongside the Tucker buggy, Marion McKean sat with the jacket of her grey tweed over one arm and pencil and paper in hand, as she tried to jot down a list of players for a polo match she was organizing . . . She is a member of the North Shore's feminine polo team and was lining up some masculine competition . . . An different people walked by, she called to them, and engaged in conversation over the back of the tally-ho . . . Elen Sears, who sometimes swings her polo mallet with the girls, stopped to give a few words of advice . . . She looked very trim and cool in a white linen jacket and a brown skirt . . . She wore short socks and her legs have such a demure and even tone that most everyone thought she had stockings on . . . Betty McKean in a red dress with white polka dots, as on the tally-ho with her sister . . . Also with them were Natalie Folsom, who wore a pastel pink linen suit with a brown skirt held by a brilliant brooch and whose Virginia Ward in a blue tweed suit with a red polka dot blouse . . . In company with most everyone at the show, she did not expect the day to be so warm, and had to carry her suit jacket over her arm . . . Catherine Prentiss took off her light blue sweater to reveal a lovely silk dress of deep crimson printed with small flowers of yellow, blue and green . . .

Sally White Houghton in Gay 90's Costume

THE RED HUNTING JACKETS which the men were requested to wear in the "hunt" classes made the formal black jackets for their feminine teammates look very severe . . . Sally White Houghton was a graceful figure from the gay nineties, turned out in a black suit with divided skirt, a tall silk hat and a huge and completely covering her face . . . She rode her mount, a small white saddle . . . Miss Mary Curtis and Mrs. Gordon Prince reined the black severity of their habits by punning large yellow sun flowers in their laps . . .

Among the many, many others who attended the show we saw the Bob Almy sitting in their car at the ring side, Betty Parker, Pat Preston in one of the new plain skirt and plaid top suits of town, Tim Clark, who later played in the exhibition polo game, and Mrs. Clark, Harriet Butler, the A. C. Barrages, Mrs. Barrage in a novel dress of grey linen trimmed with yellow at the neck and yellow criss cross stripes down the front, Renee von Nydick Selansk, who according to the recent vote at the Casino at Magnolia, is the second prettiest on the North Shore; Phyllis Forbes in a striking yellow print dress under a sky blue cardigan; Mary Elizabeth Sears, very blue from straw hat to saddle shoes; Nat Clark, Mrs. Paul Moore, Mrs. Raymond Tucker, and Lindsay Dexter, down from Nahant for the holidays and proudly displaying his new long, low sport sedan . . .

MRS. WILLIAM C. BOWDITCH

"I'VE BEEN WAITING 25 years for this," said William Stuart Forbes, Jr., as he cut a slice out of his birthday cake at the large party recently given in his honor at the Casino in Magnolia. Mrs. William C. Bowditch was one of the North Shore friends on hand to help him celebrate his anniversary and to get a piece of the cake.

JUNIOR BIRDMEN OF AMERICA

DEVOTED TO THE INTEREST OF THE YOUTH OF THE AMERICAS IN AVIATION

TODAY'S PILOTS OF MODELS—TOMORROW'S MODEL PILOTS!

A busy week-end has been spent by many Junior Birdmen who are building planes for the last Boston wing outdoor model plane held Saturday, September 12, from 9 a. m. to 12:30 p. m.

Franklin Field, Dorchester, site of the wing and outdoor air races this season will be the flying field for glider and cabin models having the same specifications as these contests.

Rules may be obtained by applying to headquarters, 200 Summer Street, Boston.

Boys and girls just returning from vacation at last school are reminded that it is not too late to build competitors.

They should send a picture of their model to headquarters.

Entries close September 15, 1936.

Many a place has been won in a contest by models built overnight, although it is best to put as much time as possible into the craftsmanship as at least approach, which were set by other members at the national contest here last August 4.

These records were 6 min. 2 sec. for glider, by Leighton Webb, Rochester, N. Y. and 11 min. 3 sec. in the cabin event by Frank Kew, Detroit, Mich.

Prizes in these records, Boston's best were 3 min. 43 sec. for glider and 2 min. 48 sec. for cabin.

The first was an A-4 member, John Sembrich of Boston and the second by Frank A. Barrett, Jr. of Brighton, Boston Wing outdoor contest.

Members will contest for many years to come.

Some will think it must be important to break previous records and have their names recorded in the annals of model plane achievement and others who be happy with $2, $3, $4 and $5 cash prizes being offered the highest point winners.

Would Name New School For Kirstein

There'll be action soon in the naming of Boston's new school at Eliot square.

The times almost at hand when the Boston school committee will make a final choice, after consideration of all names suggested.

The time's almost at hand when the Boston school committee will make a final choice, after consideration of all names suggested.

Now's YOUR opportunity to put your own selection on record. There is still opportunity to propose a name which will win general public approval.

Here's one of the hundreds of letters which come daily to the Boston Evening American School Name Ballot Editor.

"I suggest the new Roxbury school be named the Louis E. Kirstein school."

"Mr. Kirstein, an executive of one of Boston's biggest downtown department stores, is a man of character, who lets actions rather than words speak for him."

"He has done a great deal for humanity. His charities and philanthropies are of untold help, and the branch library he presented to the city of Boston further advanced the cause of learning."

"Franklin street, Boston."

Lending the vote in the Boston Evening American's Roxbury School Name referendum are the three names originally suggested: those of John Eliot, John L. Gleason, and William L. Pinney.

Your choice may win, however, even if it is a name not far mentioned.

Clip and mark the Roxbury School Name Ballot bank, which you'll find on this page of today's Boston Evening American.

Then mail or bring your ballot to headquarters, 200 Summer Street, Boston.

What Every Woman Knows

What else attracts attention to a handsome man, when he is also a successful business man, is his ability to make a woman feel that she is the only woman in the world who can make him feel that way.

It is not the money, it is the way he makes her feel that she is the only woman in the world who can make him feel that way.

SEATTLE PAPER CITES STAND ON STRIKE

Seattle, Wash., Sept. 8 (INS)—Management of the Post-Intelligencer, Seattle's morning newspaper, which has been forced to suspend publication since Aug. 13, today is in a strike of a minority of its editorial employees and a gang of rickety surrounding the plant, to make clear the stand of the newspaper concerning possible arbitration of the strike.

On a broadcast, outlining its stand, the Post-Intelligencer editors declared they cannot arbitrate under present, lawless conditions. The newspaper cited five circumstances which it deems make the issue one that cannot be submitted to arbitration.

1. Only a small minority of editorial workers went on strike, the great majority remaining at their posts despite mob intimidation.

2. The newspaper was suppressed by gang violence, not by the strike of the handful of editorial employees.

3. The striking editorial workers already had laid their case before a jury of their own choosing, the National Labor Relations Board, but they refused to give the board time to reach any decision on the justice of their claim.

4. A strike was made possible by a boycott voted by the Seattle Central Labor Council over the protest of allied printing trade unions who had no controversy with the Post-Intelligencer and whose members were barred from the building by the pickets.

5. Ten employees of the Post-Intelligencer were brutally beaten by the mob and dozens more were threatened with bodily harm. Many were kept prisoners in the Post-Intelligencer plant.

Following dismissal of two employees of the Post-Intelligencer's editorial staff on charges of "rank insubordination," 21 reporters quit work. All those on strike are members of the American Newspaper Guild, which states the real reason for the dismissal of the two employees was because of their affiliation with the guild.

By Newspaper Strike
Special to American Newspapers.

Seattle, Wash., Sept. 8.—More than 300 city carriers for the Seattle Post-Intelligencer, many of whom were starting their way through school with the proceeds of their paper routes, have been hard hit by the enforced suspension of the Post-Intelligencer.

The carrier's emergency evident today at the opening doors of the schools and the University of Washington seemed with an immediate prospect of the Post-Intelligencer resuming publication, the newspaper was compelled to abandon publication because of mob violence precipitated by a strike of 21 editorial workers.

Two typical instances of the hardship visited by the Post-Intelligencer's thousands of hundreds of thousands of routes of the city and the state of John Doe, who was predicted last year from Queen Ann High school an attendance of his class, and Douglas Grayson, University of Washington sophomore.

Young Doe had planned to enter the University this fall, paying his entrance fee and having necessary clothes and books from the proceeds of his Post-Intelligencer route. Now, unless the paper gets going again, he will be compelled to abandon his ambition to finance his own education.

Young Grayson, a freshman student at the University, hopes to remain in his classes by getting National Youth Administration part-time work, but admits the prospects are very bright. Each youth earned from $25 to $35 a month on the route.

FAIR TO SHOW MODEL PLANES

One of the outstanding events of the Boston Fair, which opens on the evening of September 14 and continues through Saturday, September 20, is the program devoted to the children to which they will be admitted free.

Beginning Tuesday, September 15, at 10 a. m. in the oval inside the race track, there will be a model plane tournament. There will be eight events scheduled this year, three events for each of two divisions, one for boys of 16 years and over and another for boys 15 years and under.

There will also be an open event for a hand-launched model plane having power other than rubber. In the past, junior boys have proved as capable as senior boys in the building of planes, and the competition promises to be great. Although the tournament is regularly participated in by boys, applications from girls will be accepted. One of last year's prize winners was a girl.

Hundreds of applications have already been received by the committee, and children in Boston, Somerville, Malden, Dorchester, Medford, Taunton, Fall River, New Bedford and Brockton have entered.

30-Ft. Book Is Given to Harvard

A 30-foot, three-dimensional book, arriving at Harvard this afternoon for formal presentation tomorrow.

The book is an exact-scale miniature of a half-mile-long, automobile factory in the town of Three plant engineers worked two months to construct the miniature, which is similar to the master plant used by engineers to map changes in the factory.

R. F. Hutchinson and H. G. Munk of Detroit were in presentation of the model factory to Dean Robinson of Harvard business school and foreigner E. H. Hurler, professor of industrial management.

The miniature reproduces the 17 miles of highways inside the factory, assembly lines, all plant machinery and loading and receiving docks, 150 freight trains and motor trucks are placed in the "yard" outside the model factory in half-ton scale.

The model was given to the university permanently and will be a students' but for the future engineers to compare their factories with those of Detroit.

Brains Needed

The best chance of solving the problem of unemployment is to increase the production of goods and services, and this can be done only by increasing the efficiency of the industrial system.

After the state has created a new agency, the state will be in a position to take the necessary steps to increase the efficiency of the industrial system.

Providence, R. I. (INS)—The Island Textile Association today issued a statement saying that imports of Japanese cotton cloth of all types in 1933 totaled 1,115,713 square yards plus 61,098 dozen handkerchiefs.

In 1935, the United States Department of Commerce reported that imports of cotton cloth reached 8,169,967 square yards, or 735,847 dozen cotton shirts, an increase of 10 per cent in cotton cloth and 15 per cent in cotton shirts.

Detailing the big Japanese textile importation into the United States, the report says:

1.—That the Department's records show that in 11 months of 1935 the value of goods imported into this country was 33,400,000 yards of all types of cloth, an all-time peak for any one month in the short period.

2.—That Japanese goods sold in the New York market from 5 to 8 cents per yard, direct competition with
